Moonwalk

What does walking on the moon feel like?

"I'd sum it up with wonder, awe, excitement and adventure" said Charlie Duke, Apollo pilot describing the feeling of walking on the moon. Reduced traction, uneven ground and lower gravity, are all the challenges of walking on the moon but never limited human being's fascination about it.

Landform

The moon surface is covered with dead volcanos, craters, lava flow canyons and a variety of other surface features. It's a beautiful terrain with all different types of landforms - some powdery, some rocky, some dark, some light, but all formed naturally and remain untouched. In a way, the freely formed texture of moon surface represents the beauty of nature and power of the universe.

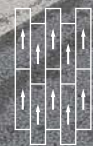

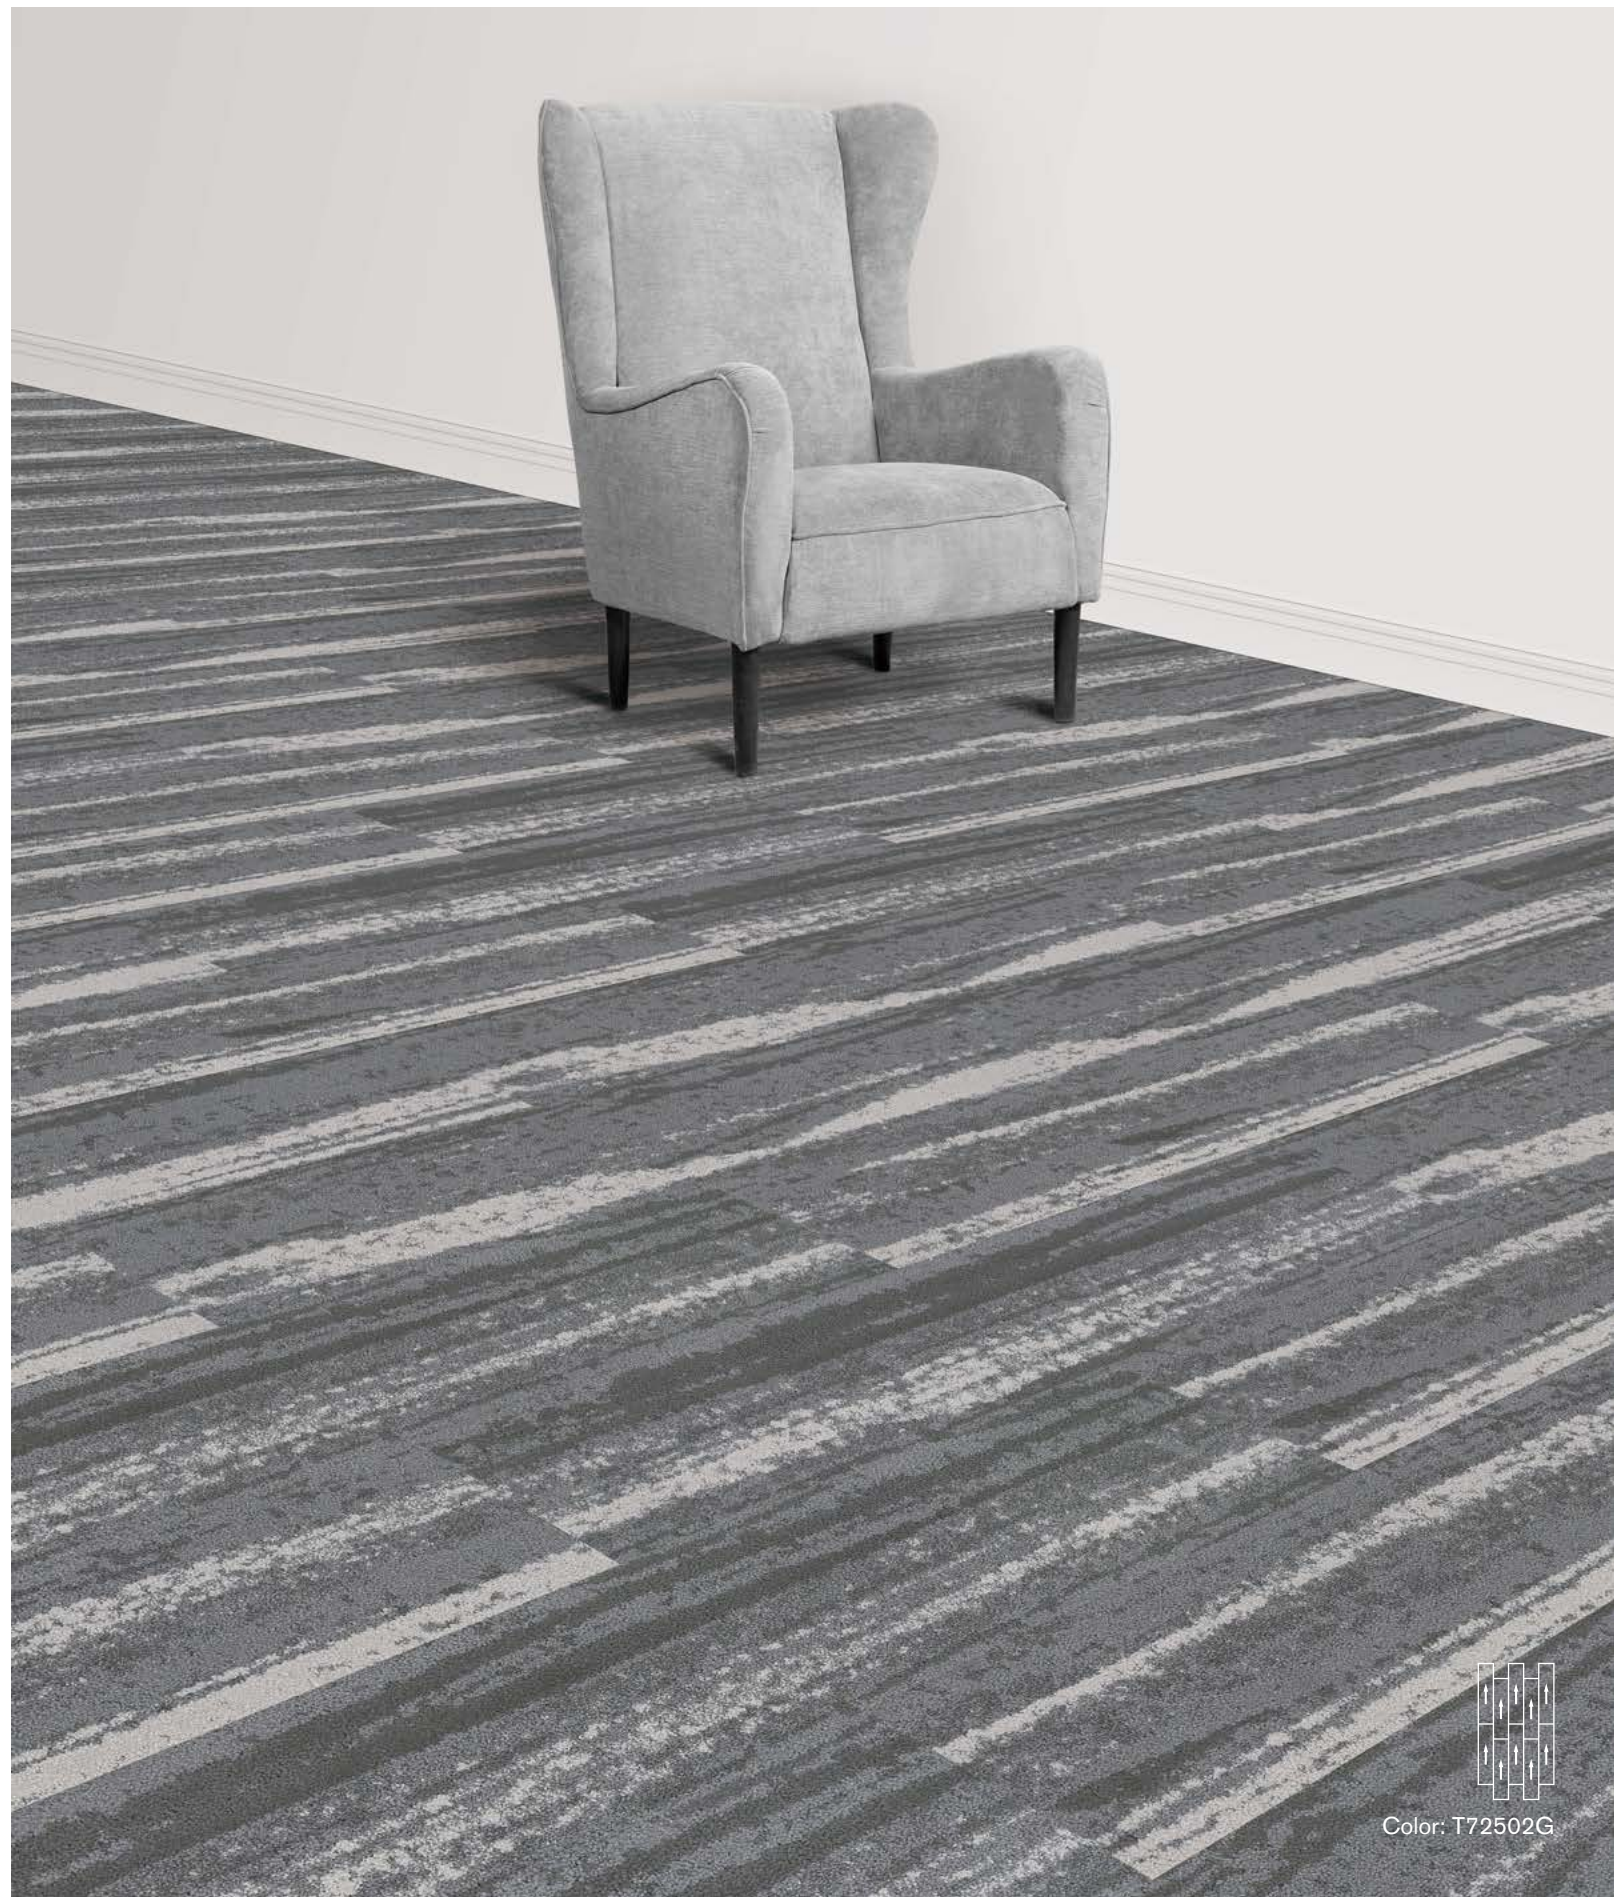

Artistic

People have great imagination and curiosity for the moon and has inspired a multitude of art creations. The Moonwalk movement in hip-pop dance, invented by Michael Jackson, was one of the most iconic and admired interpretations. With direct inspiration from the moon surface, Tuntex introduced its first Plank series using color-point tufting machine, allowing more artistic patterns for creators to take their inspiration out of this world.
